THOUSAND RIDE ON FRISCO CARS

(Continued from Page One) employed by the strikers to impede the progress of the cars were placing iron girders across the rails, strewing of paving blocks and filling switches with cement. On Sutter street near Steiner a torpedo exploded under one of the cars gave rise to a rumor which flashed over the whole city that a car had been blown up with dynamite.

Mulially Rides on Platform Assistant President Mullally of the United Railroads rode on the first car sent out today and stood beside the motorman. On Sutter street at Mason a union teamster drove a load into the tracks in front of Mullally's car and refused to move until the assistant president threatened to yank him out of his seat and thrash him. On Eddy street between Steiner and Fillmore passenger was pulled off the car and severely beaten by strike sympathizers. He was rescued by policemen who arrested the assailant and immediately afterward turned him loose.

All along the lines of procession throughout the day business men and many women vied with the strikers and their friends in saluting the unarmed operatives. The former cheered the men lustily and threw flowers to them, and the latter cursed them and promised with great vehemence to "Give them all they were looking for" when they should get down in the burned district south of Market street.

The Days of Manana and Poco Tiempo

Have followed the footsteps of the wandering Arab "and as silently stole away" from the vicinity of Globe, where the deep, heavy blast-ing of mines tell of a battle waged fiercely, in a fight for the dollars and dimes, in and about the many hills, where the toot of the steam whistle sings a lullaby to the hardy sons of toil. The war song of the dusky warrior and the beat of his tom tom drum has been "lost in the shuffie of progression" and now instead of "skidooing" before the tomahawks of our copper-hued adversaries, we caper nimbly to the dulcet notes "of the long green william bills" in the only Globe on the map; where Old Nature's balsamized ozone floats o'er peaceful and prosperous homes. We have a few good bargains in lots and homes for sale. We handle no mines, sell no stocks, write no insurance, run no banks and are not in the abstract business. We only wish to attend to one business, and that is the real estate business. Buying or selling, see other fellow, then see the
